This seminar will examine the landscape of data breaches and cyberthreats to both law firms and the businesses they represent.

The faculty includes attorneys and insurance experts who will explore the emerging case law and regulations in this area as well as the insurance products now available to cover these risks and the issues related to such coverage.

Included in the discussion:

- How to counsel clients to avoid problems
- What to do once a data breach is detected
- What insurance products are available to cover losses due to data breaches
- The limitations on insurance coverage
- Other practical advice

Since law firms are as vulnerable as the businesses they represent, consideration will be given to the risks law firms face from cyberthreats (no matter the firm size) and what should be done to mitigate those risks.
